

POUNDING WAY AT HANNA

COOPERATIONS WANTED NOT TO COME TO HIS ASSISTANCE.

News of hostile legislation to make them Hands On—Forker Accused on the Floor of the House as the Chief Lobbyist of the Attacks on Hanna.

COLUMBIA, N. Y., Jan. 5.—The day was profile of legislation in the Senatorial contest. Intense bitterness prevails everywhere. A defeat in a majority of the various headquarters.
The day was a day of the various headquarters.
The day was a day of the various headquarters.
The day was a day of the various headquarters.

The story has its origin in the so-called kidnaping of the wife of Speaker pro tem Griffith night before last. It is alleged that he testified that Senator Hanna agreed himself that her husband should have a good thing under the administration if he voted for the caucus nominee. Quite a number of Hanna's lieutenants are also implicated in the same matter, among them being Major Dick, Senator Clark and one of the most prominent men in the State.

The story did not take as well as its originator thought it would. The Grand Jury in Albany and the Prosecutor is a Democrat. The story is generally regarded as a fake.

Senator Hanna's enemies began the day's fight on him when the House took up the measure repealing the fifty-year street railway franchise law. As the bill was introduced on Monday, the House attracted attention. In the debate which followed, Republican members became involved in a heated controversy, during which, however, defeated by Speaker, spoke of the Senator from Ohio as his chief lobbyist.

Another member accused Hanna not only of lobbying for it, but of its passage. The bill went through without a dissenting voice.
The mention of the name of Forker in connection with the bill was the beginning of what promised to be a fierce war on him. The Republican editors have expanded their indignation on Bushnell and are now directing their attention to Forker, who so far has been strangely silent.

It is not too much to say that he is censured because he does not talk at all. Something like a universal demand is rising from all quarters for him to break the silence and state his position. The majority of the Republican rank and file are convinced that he could end the fight by saying that he is in the fight, and is believed to be in close touch with his former private secretary, Mr. Griffith, who is now in the fight against the bill. It is not absolutely certain that the fight against the bill will be won, but it is not too much to say that the fight will not be won by Hanna, but Hanna has gained a victory.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

The name of Hanna is in the air. Hanna's friends
claim him. While the bill is in the air, it is still in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air. The bill is in the air.

SIMON HERNANDEZ A SUICIDE

One of New Orleans' Wealthiest Citizens Taken Prisoner Acid.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5.—Simon Hernandez, one of the wealthiest and most public spirited citizens of New Orleans, committed suicide in his tobacco factory, located on the corner of the body was found in an out-of-the-way corner. Mr. Hernandez had poured out a glass of whiskey and emptied a small vial of prussic acid in it, walked to the corner, and there taken the poison. He left ten letters to relatives and friends explaining his suicide.

The suicide is attributed to dependency over the death of his wife two years ago. He was much worried also over the Cuban war and the order of Gen. Weyler prohibiting the export of cigars. He was a member of the family which belonged to him was seized by Weyler on the ground that it was purchased after the order prohibiting exports was made. Only recently was it released. The quarantine regulations which shut his cigars out of Texas and other parts of the South also caused him distress.

Mr. Hernandez was a native of New Orleans and was 59 years old. He served in the Confederate army, collecting the war tax, and was engaged in the tobacco trade shipping leaf tobacco to the United States. He had a large factory, La Belle Creole, employed 3,000 hands, and was the largest in the United States. He acquired a large fortune and his residence was probably the finest in New Orleans.

JILTED WOMAN KILLS HERSELF

Mrs. Sax's Love Disappeared After Her Arrival from Providence.

Sax, 23 years old, killed herself yesterday at the home of her uncle, Morris Frankel of 147 Essex street, with carbolic acid. She committed suicide, her friends say, because she had been jilted by a man named Epstein.

Mrs. Sax came from her home in Providence six months ago to marry Epstein. He met her on the pier and took her to his home, Mr. Frankel's house. He told the young woman that he would marry her the next day and made all kinds of promises to her.

He did not keep his promises and Mrs. Sax was left without a cent. When she arrived in Providence, she was told that Epstein had married another woman. She was left without a cent and was looking for the lover who never returned.

FRANK KLINKMEYER SHOT HIMSELF

After Assigning His Property to His Wife and Stepson Turned Him Adrift, He Says.

Frank Klinkmeyer, 55 years old, of 64 Summer avenue, Brooklyn, was committed to jail yesterday for three days for carrying concealed weapons. He attempted suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself in the back of the head with a revolver. He was found by the police at his home, 64 Summer avenue.

He was committed to jail for three days for carrying concealed weapons. He attempted suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

He was committed to jail for three days for
carrying concealed weapons. He attempted
suicide on Tuesday night by shooting himself
in the back of the head with a revolver.

PANDO'S VERY UNHAPPY.

HIS STORY TALKS WITH BLANCO ARE THE TOPIC IN HAVANA.

Mr. Pando's decision to take the Pando is an arrest—A Part of the Cuban Ministry Will Come to Washington to Talk About Commercial Reciprocity.

HAVANA, Jan. 5.—Gen. Pando has held several conferences with Gen. Blanco, expressing his great disgust because no reinforcements were sent to him to continue his operations on the Cauto River. The resolution of Gen. Pando to take the field in Santiago de Cuba is regarded by Pando as a personal humiliation. The last story interview between them, this morning, is the absorbing topic in Havana. Gen. Blanco insists that the whole responsibility for the defeat rests upon Pando's shoulders.

Hundreds of starving people, most of them women and children, surround the American Consulate in Havana asking for food. The Spanish authorities are bent upon controlling the distribution of relief from the United States among the starving people in the country.

It is known that at Matanzas several mu-lacial employees have been paid, and a great sum of money given to them to help the concentrated. Mr. Madrigal, the American Consul in Sancti Spiritus, who went to Gen. Gomez's camp, had a long interview yesterday with Gen. Blanco.

Immediately afterward the Governor-General sent a long cable dispatch to Madrid, in which all the statements from Gen. Gomez already published in THE SUN were given.

The fact is confirmed from authoritative sources that Gen. Blanco is greatly disappointed over the results of autonomy.

The war is raging furiously in Matanzas province. Large insurgent forces, commanded by Gen. Carrillo and Col. Cepero and Cayito Alvarez, are burning all the sugar plantations in the north of the province and successfully repelling the strong Spanish forces sent against them.

In the south of Matanzas the insurgents, commanded by Brig. Gen. Jose Gonzalez, have also stopped the grinding of sugar.

At all times, within sight of Matanzas city, the column of Gen. Molina was utterly defeated and this morning, however, received no attention from visitors to the Capitol than any other object in the building.

Mrs. C. Adela Fassel, the well-known artist and portrait painter, of Washington, dropped dead of heart disease on Tuesday evening while on her way to attend a reception. She came to Washington from Ohio in 1875, and many distinguished public men and women sat to her for their portraits.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in statesmanship, politics, journalism, the army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

TAMMANY'S LOCAL OPTION BILL.

It Given to Municipal Authorities Complete Control of Excise Matters.

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—Senator Grady of New York today introduced a bill to provide for the regulation of traffic in liquors by the local legislative authorities of the towns and cities of the State.
This proposed law is to take the place of all existing excise laws. It provides that the local legislative authorities of the towns and cities of the State be vested with the power to regulate the traffic in liquors in the several municipal divisions over which such authorities exercise local legislative jurisdiction, and that such power shall include the creation of such duties or commissions within such jurisdiction as may be necessary to enforce the regulations which the local authorities may adopt.

The regulations to be so prescribed shall include: The character and grades of licenses;
the fees to be paid therefor, the hours and days during which liquors may be sold, or exposed for sale, under any grade or character of license; the method of appointment and removal of terms of service of the Commissioner, or other officers, whose duty it shall be to enforce such regulations; provision for the payment of the salaries of such Commissioners or other officers, and for the payment of expenses incurred by them in the performance of their duties, including office rent, stationery, and printing; all such payments to be made out of the sum or sums collected for license fees; the duty to be made of the revenue derived from license fees, in excess of the cost of the enforcement of the regulations.

The regulations to be so prescribed shall include: The character and grades of licenses;
the fees to be paid therefor, the hours and days
during which liquors may be sold, or exposed for
sale, under any grade or character of license;
the method of appointment and removal of
terms of service of the Commissioner, or other
officers, whose duty it shall be to enforce such
regulations; provision for the payment of the salaries of such Commissioners or other officers,
and for the payment of expenses incurred by
them in the performance of their duties, including office rent, stationery, and printing;
all such payments to be made out of the sum or
sums collected for license fees; the duty to be made of the revenue derived from license
fees, in excess of the cost of the enforcement of the regulations.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. C. Adela Fassel, the well-known artist
and portrait painter, of Washington, dropped
dead of heart disease on Tuesday evening while on her way to attend a reception. She came to Washington from Ohio in 1875, and many distinguished public men and women sat to her for their portraits.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

Although severely criticised as a work
yesterday by the insurance men, it received no
attention from visitors to the Capitol than any
other object in the building.

Mrs. Fassel painted the most celebrated
work in the painting of the electoral commission, which now hangs in the gallery corridor of
the Senate wing of the Capitol. The Joint Committee on Library paid $7,500 for it. There are 208 faces in the picture of people distinguished in
statesmanship, politics, journalism, the
army, and navy, and society generally.

EXHIBITION

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS

FROM NEGATIVES KINDLY LOANED BY MEMBERS OF THE

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS

Together with an artistic display of enlargements from negatives by the best amateur photographic workers of Europe and America.

Daily (except Sunday), from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., until Jan. 15th.

MUSIC EVERY AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Admission by complimentary tickets, which can be obtained from all Kodak dealers, or by visiting card.

TO SELL THE BRIGHTON BEACH ROAD

Foreclosure Proceedings Begun by the Central Trust Company of This City.

Foreclosure proceedings have been begun against the Brooklyn and Brighton Beach Road Company in the Supreme Court in Kings county by the Central Trust Company of New York, which holds, as trustee, a $500,000 first mortgage on the property.

The road, originally the Brooklyn, Flatbush and Coney Island, was built in 1877. In 1887 it was sold under foreclosure of a first mortgage held by the Brooklyn Trust Company. In 1890 the present company gave a second mortgage of $1,000,000 to the Brooklyn Trust Company. Half the bonds under this mortgage were issued for the "extension" of the road from Atlantic avenue to Fulton street and the connection with the elevated road.

In the meantime, interest on the first mortgage bonds has been in default since September 1898. It is provided in the mortgage that the principal shall mature after six months' continued default of interest.

FINAL UNITED PACIFIC PAYMENT.

A Check for $5,588,401.25 Drawn to the Order of the Assistant U. S. Treasurer.

A final payment of $5,588,401.25 to the Government by the United Pacific Reorganization Committee was made yesterday. It was in slight check to the order of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at this city, signed by Gen. Louis Fitzgerald, Chairman of the committee, and Alvin W. Ketch, its secretary, and drawn upon the Mercantile Trust Company, of which Gen. Fitzgerald is President.

After the Sub-Treasury receives the cash through the clearing house, the money will be paid to the amount will be given to the Reorganization Committee. The filing of this certificate of deposit with the proper officer of the court will complete the sale of the United Pacific Railroad to the Reorganization Committee.

Of the $58,000,000 in round figures that has been received by the Government from the sale of the accounts of the United Pacific, which were designated as special deposits, in order to obviate an undue strain upon the money market, hold about $28,000,000, which will ultimately be covered into the Treasury.
The process will be a gradual one.

Mrs. Mack to Be Arraigned on Next Monday.

Mrs. Augusta Mack, the confessed accomplice of Martin Thorne, will be arraigned before Justice Garretson in the Supreme Court at Long Island City next Monday afternoon for the killing of William Glendon. Justice Garretson assigned Emanuel Friend to defend Mrs. Mack.
It has been reported that Mrs. Mack will be allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. District Attorney Young declined yesterday to either affirm or deny the rumor.

Large Business With Small Capital.

All business in these days must be transacted on a large scale. Combinations to this